

Deconstructing the School-to-Prison Pipeline: Progressive Discipline and Alternatives-to-Suspension to Keep Kids in NY Schools

Wednesday, March 12th, 2014, 6:30-8:30 PM
NYU School of Law, Vanderbilt Hall (Room 204)
40 Washington Square South

PANELISTS

Joshua Laub

Director of Youth Development for District 88, NYC Department of Education

Dana Ashley

Director of The Institute for Understanding Behavior

Tania Romero

Teacher, The Flushing International High School, Teachers Unite

MODERATED BY

Nick Sheehan

Skadden Fellow, Advocates for Children of New York -- School Justice Project

Please join the Junior Board of Advocates for Children of New York (AFC) and the NYU School of Law's Education Law and Policy Society to discuss the school-to-prison pipeline and alternative strategies that can improve the academic futures of NY students. Panelists will include experts on efforts to reform school discipline practices, keep children out of the juvenile justice system, and provide high-quality education alternatives. We invite you to join the conversation with your questions. Light refreshments to be served.

Please RSVP by Friday March 7 at:

<https://docs.google.com/spreadsheet/embeddedform?formkey=dFQtdXU2MDRWMUxnYUhXS1JueVNMLWc6MA>

Advocates for Children of New York
Protecting every child's right to learn

