

Human Rights Lawyering at the State and Local Level in the United States

Monday, April 22

10:00am - 5:00pm ET

American University
Washington College of Law
4801 Massachusetts
Avenue, NW
Room 603

Lunch will be served!

This day-long conference is aimed at legal aid attorneys and juvenile public defenders interested in learning more about how to get involved with the growing movement to use human rights law in local and state advocacy in the U.S. Panels will range from clients and advocates sharing their experiences of fighting for human rights protections in the U.S., to a discussion of how to spread and strengthen the movement to use human rights law in local advocacy. This conference marks the official public launch of the Local Human Rights Lawyering Project's training materials and other resources, including 'Human Rights in the U.S.: A Handbook for Legal Aid Attorneys'. This conference will be webcast for those who are unable to attend in person.

A complete agenda and a list of speakers is available at
