

The Northern Virginia Pro Bono Law Center
Presents

Neighborhood Outreach Training for Volunteer Lawyers

The Neighborhood Outreach Program is designed for the busy lawyer who wants to assist the most needy throughout our community. It's easy and rewarding to participate in sessions at neighborhood sites. Lawyers meet with scheduled clients to offer legal advice and referral information, helping to promote access to justice. Volunteer lawyers will receive a comprehensive training that will include an overview of the major substantive areas of law, such as Consumer, Employment, Family, Immigration, Landlord and Tenant, and Public Benefits as well as tips and techniques on client interviewing, and other valuable information.

- Lawyers volunteer to provide general civil legal counsel and referral information to clients at locations throughout Fairfax County such as Family Resource Centers, Community Centers, and Homeless Shelters.
- No prior experience is necessary. New, current, and former volunteers are welcome (must be licensed to practice in Virginia).
- Convenient times are available. Attorneys will pick the dates and locations (the program is currently held on weekday evenings).
- There is no requirement to accept cases for full representation.
- Malpractice insurance is provided.
- This is a great opportunity for rewarding pro bono service!
